GERMAN ADVANCE CHECKED

This Is the Claim of the Allies.

REFORMED THEIR LINES

Following Recent Drubbing, Allies Take New Stand.

PARIS ATTACKED FROM SKY

German Aviator Cast Bombs Into the French Capital.

Tientsin, Aug. 31.—Japanese troops have been landed at several points on the coast near Klauchau.

London, Aug. 31.—The British and French forces, after retreating from Aug. 23 to 28, have reformed their lines and resumed the offensive. The British loss is reported to have been 6,000, but 12,000 men have been sent to take their places. The battle line of the allies now runs through Laberries, Le Chateau and Cambray. The Germans report that their forces have reached Quentin and are advancing from there toward the fortified positions of La Fere. The mayor of Bouligne deplorates that that city has been taken by the Germans. According to a dispatch from Paris a German aviator passed over that city in an airplane and dropped bombs, which did only trifling damage.

Washington reports that the first information received that Turkey may become involved in the European war was contained in a statement given out by the German embassy. This information is to the effect that Turkey may at any moment join the kaiser and that a declaration of war against Great Britain is believed by the Germans likely to inflame the Moslems against the British in Egypt and India. The information from the Balkans is to the effect that German naval and army officers are being hurried to Constantinople in the expectation of war and that the situation within the Balkan area is becoming most serious.

The Russian Operations.

Two Russian armies are now reported to be engaged along the frontiers of Germany and Austria. One is operating north of Thorn in Germany and the other around Lemberg, in Austria. The Germans report that they won a decided victory over the Russian troops thirty-two miles from Koenigsberg. The Germans are reported to be rushing troops from Belgium across Germany to meet the Russian invasion. To the north of Lille a large force of Germans were seen moving along the Meuse toward Germany, and it was reported that they were bound for the eastern frontier. With the consequent weakening of his attacking force in France, by the urgent need of meeting the czar in battle, the kaiser is exposed to the attack of France's army, which is now operating under the protection of the guns of the strongest fortresses in the world.

The British admiralty reports that the naval fleet of Heligoland had for its object a sweeping move of a strong force of destroyers to cut off the German fleet from their home base and then engage them at leisure in the open sea. Only two of the German destroyers were observed to sink, but most of the eighteen to twenty vessels engaged were rounded up, attacked and well punished. They saved themselves by scattered flight. The British report their loss at fifty-nine men and the loss of the Germans at 800.

The Eastern Battle Lines.

German troops have been forced to abandon the Vistula river at several points and are being diverted back rapidly all along the line of this river, which is of great strategic importance. Battle lines cover two widely separated regions, the northern Russian army engaging the Germans south of Koenigsburg, the siege of which has been begun, and the southern force assailing the Austrians near Lemberg, Austrian Galicia. In a fight with the Austrians, the Russians achieved victory, killing 3,000 Austrians and capturing many prisoners. Dispatches from Austrian headquarters state that 1,000,000 men are engaged in the battle on the Austro-Russian frontier. The

TEACHERS MEET AT HARDINSBURG

Enthusiasm and Great Interest Manifested in the Work For the Coming Year—Institute Has Large Attendance.

ARE BUSY DAY AND NIGHT

Never before has there been in Hardinsburg so many people attending the Breckenridge County Teachers' Institute which began Monday in the Court House under the supervision of J. W. Trent, Superintendent of the Breckenridge County Schools.

It rained all Monday morning, but this did not keep the one hundred teachers away, and many others who came by train and in buggies

The morning session was opened by an invocation by the Rev. S. K. Hunt. Miss Ida B. Marr is secretary, and the instructors are Prof. T. S. Williams and Mrs. Joe Roemer. The music is in charge of Mrs. William Lennon, the teachers and young society people of the town taking part.

The arrangements for the institute are perfect and the daily programs will be very profitable to the teachers. The hotels, private boarding houses and homes are entertaining the teachers delightfully. A large crowd heard the Woman's Suffrage address by Mrs. Weaver, and the following evenings will be spent in social gatherings.

Miss Mary Ogilvie lectures on health, and has stereopticon views of tuberculosis prevention in the schools, furnished by the schools of Louisville.

battle line extends from the Vistula river to the Oder river, more than 100 miles. The Russians have penetrated more than twenty miles into Austria.

Servian troops entering — (name of town deleted by censor) found half the town had been pillaged by the Austrians. In two of the main streets every house had been looted and some of them burned. In one house twenty girls were found dead. Sixty Servian prisoners are said to have been executed.

A pretty wedding of last Wednesday evening was that of Miss Maggie Burnette and Mr. Claud Dowell, which took place in the Methodist church at Vanzant, near the bride's home. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Dowell, near Hardinsburg, and is an industrious young man. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Burnette, of Vanzant, and is an attractive young lady. Rev. Felix Roberts performed the ceremony witnessed by a number of friends and relatives of the bride and groom. Mr. and Mrs. Dowell have a host of friends who wish them a long and happy married life.

Birthday Dinner.

One of the most pleasant events of the season, was the birthday dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Morrison, at their home in Wall street, last Saturday evening at six o'clock, in honor of their son Homer Morrison's twenty-first anniversary. The invited guests were: Mrs. Wm. Boucher and son, and Miss Ruth Morrison, of Lewisport. Misses Bertha Perkins, Bassie Arnold, Anna Edmondson, Lucy Hall. Messrs. Emmett Edmondson, Wallace Lewis, Addis Kramer, John Hall, Bernard and Homer Morrison, Carl and Robert Brittan, Willie Wroe.

Mr. Frank Rhodes was completely destroyed by fire, which they supposed started in a dresser drawer where they had put some fresh ironed clothes early that evening. Nothing was saved only some bed clothing. The dwelling was a few feet from his store which was hard work to save but painting and roofing on one side was only damaged. Mr. Rhodes has for several years been a hustling merchant with McQuady & Co., we regret to hear of his loss.

East St. Louis Sets Pace For Go to Church Movement—Great Enthusiasm Shown

East St. Louis had a banner GO TO CHURCH Sunday. Eighty-two per cent of the population went to divine service. "How did you do it?" was the question asked by hundreds of other cities throughout the country. The answer came:

ALL CITY OFFICIALS ASKED THEIR EMPLOYEES TO GO TO CHURCH. THE CHIEF OF POLICE ASSEMBLED ALL THE POLICEMEN AT ROLL CALL AND ASKED THEM TO GO TO SOME CHURCH. JUST BEFORE GOING HOME SATURDAY NIGHT HE REVISED THE PATROL SCHEDULE OF ALL THE PATROLMEN AND DETECTIVES SO THAT THEY COULD GET AWAY TO SOME CHURCH SERVICE SUNDAY. IN THE PRESENCE OF MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF POLICE COMMISSIONERS HE HANDED THE SCHEDULE TO THE SERGEANT IN CHARGE.

The chief of the fire department just after returning from a fire run Saturday afternoon assembled the entire fire department and told the men the schedule would be arranged so they could GO TO CHURCH. The superintendent of public instruction assembled all the teachers and asked them to GO TO SOME CHURCH. He also instructed them to tell their pupils to GO TO CHURCH.

THE RETAIL MERCHANTS ENTERED THE SPIRIT OF THE THING. THEY INVITED THEIR PATRONS TO ATTEND SERVICES. WHEN A WOMAN WENT TO A STORE TO MAKE A PURCHASE THE GROCER WOULD ASK HER IF SHE WOULD BE IN CHURCH NEXT DAY, OR HE WOULD SAY PLEASANTLY, "WILL I SEE YOU IN CHURCH TOMORROW?" THE DELIVERY BOYS ALSO EXTENDED CHURCH INVITATIONS. "SEE YOU IN CHURCH TOMORROW!" WAS HEARD IN MORE HOMES IN EAST ST. LOUIS THAN EVER BEFORE. THE STREET CAR COMPANIES CARRIED SIGNS GRATIS ADVERTISING THE MOVEMENT.

That's how East St. Louis did it. Other cities and towns are planning the same kind of a campaign.

COUNTRY FAIR PLANS ARE BEING PERFECTED

Meeting Held at Irvington Saturday to Pass Resolutions of Appreciation of the People, Press and Railroads.

FAIR SEPTEMBER 25 AND 26.

Irvington, Ky., Aug. 31.—(Special.)—The Corn, Clover and Stock Club met at Irvington Saturday to perfect plans for their Country Fair to be held the last of this month. Resolutions were adopted as follows:

This being the first meeting since the community picnic and the one preceding the Country Fair, the following was unanimously adopted:

First: That we appreciate the interest taken by our friends from a distance in the country's uplift; that the stranger is ever welcome within our gates; that we think a friend is a business asset, and something to be cherished forever.

Second: We hope to impart to others the feeling that animates us in this work and hope every one may live to feel that they have done something that is appreciated—not measured in dollars and cents. Therefore be it

Resolved, That the press, backed by brains, can do and does more than any one agency for rural uplift. That railroads are links in the chain that connects men for their mutual good. That the business man and farmer have common ground on which to meet; and further, that Irvington is the ideal place for the County Fair, September 25-26.

After appointing Flake Ater, Ginger Bandy, Ed Shellman, David Heron, Pius Backler, George Lyddan and Worland Carter a committee to arrange details for the Country Fair, the meeting adjourned. Signed:

J. B. Gibson, President.

B. W. Carter, Secretary.

SPIES SWARM UNITED STATES

Particularly Numerous in Six Large Cities.

WASHINGTON HARBORS MANY

Come From Germany, Japan, Russia, France, England and Austria—Keep Watch to See We Observe Neutrality Laws—Seek Destination of Exports and Public Sentiment in America.

"Some of the cleverest spies in all the world are now in the United States. They come here from Russia, Germany, France, Japan, England and Austria. They are particularly numerous in New York, Philadelphia, Washington, Boston, New Orleans and San Francisco."

This statement was made to the Philadelphia Press by a man high in the United States navy, whose international knowledge has been recognized by the navy department.

"I have upon my ship," the speaker said, "two spies who are known to me. One is a Japanese; the other is a Frenchman. I know they are spies, but they don't know that I know it. Apparently they are allowed the freedom of the ship, but their every movement on board and ashore is watched."

"Washington is overrun with spies. Much of the agitation for and against the proposed $10,000,000 investment in foreign ships is being pushed along by these secret agents. Representatives of Germany and Austria are working to create sentiment for the purchase of the ships, and the French, English and Russian spies are working against it."

Many of Them Are Women.

"So numerous are these spies that you may meet one or more in any walk you may take up and down Chestnut street, Philadelphia. A considerable number of women, most of them young and attractive, are among these secret agents."

"These spies are everywhere, and their work is manifold. Their duty is to learn the destination of every shipment that goes outside of the United States. They are sending especially closely the shipments into Mexico and Canada. More closely, they are watching the shipments of sugar, which substance is being used in the manufacture of the new high explosives."

Other reports are being made by these men and women to the big cities in Berlin, London, Tokyo, St. Petersburg, Vienna and Paris concerning the attitude of American public men, newspapers and the plain citizens upon various phases of the war.

Early Bidders For Food Supplies.

"Many of these spies succeeded in making many advantageous arrangements for their governments the day before and on the day war was declared. I know of a number of instances where men who sell foodstuffs were called out of bed late at night and asked if they could supply large quantities of provisions."

"One man told me he had been asked by the representative of one of the governments whether he could furnish a large supply of bacon. He replied in the affirmative. So he told to have 30,000 pounds ready in six hours. This was done, and the bacon was shipped in two special cars to Canada, whence I was told it had been reshipped to a country now in the war zone."

The officer also said a large number of the spies were here to watch the United States and to see that the neutrality laws were not violated. He said it was surprising how many of those men were to be found at points where shipments would naturally be made from his country to a European power and added that there was no doubt that the first false step made by this country or any of its citizens would be reported abroad at once."

ALLIES REFUSED MOMENT'S REST

Germans Relentlessly Pushing Them Back.

A GRAPHIC PICTURE OF WAR

An English Correspondent Who Has Seen the Armies of the Allies Beaten Back by the Resilient and Overwhelming Rush of the Kaiser's Troops Invading France, Tells Britons That More Men Are Needed.

London, Aug. 31.—The Times prints a long story from its special correspondent at Amiens regarding the seriousness of the situation in northern France.

"We have to count the losses, take stock of the situation and set our teeth," says the correspondent, who continues:

"Along the Sambre and in the angle of the Sambre and the Meuse the French, after days of long, gallant fighting, broke, Namur fell and General Joffre was forced to order a retreat along the whole line. The Germans, inflicting the one best of all the presents of war, never gave the retreating allies a single moment's rest. The pursuit was immediate, relentless, unrelenting. Aeroplanes, Zeppelins, armored motor cars, cavalry, were loosed like arrows from a bow and served immediately to harass the retreating columns and also to keep the German staff fully informed of the movements of the allies."

"The British fell back through Valenciennes and Maubeuge, then through Le Quesnoy where there was desperate fighting, southward. Continually the regiments were gravely injured and the broken army fought its way desperately. At many a stand it was forced backward, ever backward, by the sheer, unconquerable mass and numbers of an enemy prepared to throw away their three or four men for the life of every British."

Discipline Is Maintained.

"Our losses were great and I have seen the broken bits of many regiments but in general there is no failure of discipline, no panic, no throwing away the spoils. Every temper, spirit and nerve do not show. At least a dozen more regiments are in the command of the army in each case to command. They are scattered with marching, of course, in view of the hunger, for no man can live on coffee with such a case as this. They are steady and cheerful and when they are fairly they make straight for the proper authority to report and to seek news of their regiment."

"Again, every division has been in action. So far, I saw nearly all their officers. Regiments were broken to bits, but the good discipline and the men who had to take the fragments together. One thing is clear—the crushed character of the German forces. At first I was skeptical of these, now I am convinced. It also is clear that although the French staff knew that the eastern frontier defenses had been so perfected as to force Germany to turn the flank to a weak spot, and although they also knew that not for nothing did Germany antagonize England and outrage international opinion by violating the neutrality of Belgium, nevertheless they underestimated the forces of the German blow through Belgium. An estimate of the number of Germans in Belgium need revising, and I hope the screen of Alsace-Lorraine has not been far from a true screen, else, perhaps, Moltke's old adage may have had to be re-enacted."

An inexhaustible Army.

"The German commandants in the north and southmen as if there was an inexhaustible supply. Of the bravest of the men it is unnecessary to speak. They advance in deep sections, so slightly extended as to be almost in close order with little regard for cover. Rushing forward, soon their own artillery is opened behind them on our position. Our artillery mows them down through the center of sections so frequently that nothing is left but its outside, but no sooner is this done than more men double up, running over the heaps of dead, and remake the section. So great was the superiority of numbers that they could no more be stopped than the waves of the sea. Their system of scouting by aeroplanes, Zeppelins, motors carrying machine guns and cavalry, and the extreme mobility of their forces are elements of their present success."

Summing up, the correspondent concludes: "The first great German effort has succeeded. The expedition has won imperishable glory, but the need men, more men. The invention of Paris cannot be banished from the field of possibility. Whether the chief of the German staff, after counting his losses, will find enough men left to attempt a further assault we have no success is more doubtful. The army has made a colossal effort with extraordinary speed. It is now that its heat has been reached."

In defendant, a negro prisoner charged with a reputed murder, whom a mob attempted to take from the jail at Park, Ky., the jailor shot and killed Eugene Houston, a prominent citizen.

French Sailors at Rifle Practice

The sailors on the French men-of-war are regarded as among the best marksmen in the world. While others of the powers have been adding to the numerical strength of their navies the French have been developing the greatest efficiency in marksmanship not only with their cannon, but with rifles in case of land service.

LIFE INSURANCE CO'S.

They Are Closely Observing Public Health Conditions

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview on the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease. According to this it would seem that a medicine for the kidneys, possessing real healing and curative properties, would be a blessing to thousands.

Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., who prepare Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the well known kidney, liver and bladder remedy, claim that judging from evidence received from druggists everywhere, who are constantly in touch with their customers, and also indisputable proof in the form of grateful testimonial letters from thousands of reliable citizens, this preparation is remarkably successful in sickness caused by kidney and bladder troubles. Every interesting statement they receive regarding Swamp-Root is investigated, and no testimonial is published unless the party who sends it is reported of good character. They have on file many sworn statements of recoveries in the most distressing cases. They state that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is mild and gentle in its action and its healing influence is soon noticed in most cases.

Swamp-Root is purely an herbal compound and Dr. Kilmer & Co. advise all readers who feel in need of such a remedy to give it a trial. It is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes—50c and $1. However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention the Breckenridge News.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there at least one disease, disease that attacks man, is unable to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known in the medical fraternity. Hall's being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in her efforts to cure. The physicians have no much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonial. HALL'S CATARRH & CO., Toledo, O. SPONTANEOUS COMBUSTION.

More Liable to Generate in Powdered Than in Solid Substances.

The scientific phrase for combustion is oxidation, or the combining of some substance with the oxygen of the air. Some substances have greater affinity for oxygen than others, and whenever the combustion reaches a certain point of rapidity fire results.

Anything that increases the facility of combustion with oxygen increases the danger of spontaneous combustion or explosion, and for that reason a substance is more dangerous when pulverized than when solid, because the separated particles of matter are brought more directly in contact with the oxygen of the air. There is no danger of spontaneous combustion or explosion in a mass of unground wheat, but mills have been destroyed by explosions of flour dust.

Fixed oils absorb oxygen and give out carbon and hydrogen, causing a rise of temperature that may reach the burning point, as has often occurred in heaps of rags, tow, sawdust and similar bodies soaked with oil, paint, varnish, turpentine and sometimes grease. Bituminous coal is liable to spontaneous combustion when moistened with water, and the coal dust in mines is a common cause of explosions. Moisture aids spontaneous combustion in piles of damp hay or freshly mown grass, and barns have been burned from that cause.—Philadelphia Press.

The Deciding Voice.

In a business men's club in a western town there sprang up two factions, one which criticised the steward because he did not provide the members with good meals and one which defended him hotly.

The dispute got fiercer and fiercer. Half the club wanted to fire the steward at once. The other half said he was efficient.

Then without warning the steward himself decided the momentous question.

One day at lunch time a member of the club asked the waiter: "Where's the steward?"

"He ain't here," replied the waiter. "He said he was going down the street to get something good to eat."—Popular Magazine.

PHILIPPINE ISLANDS.

Their Coast Line is Longer Than That of the United States.

It is not generally known perhaps that the coast line of the Philippine Islands is longer than that of the United States," said a man who has spent more than fifteen years in that country. "The Philippines are numerous islands," he continued. "It would take one many months to tour all of the islands. Of course the climate varies, but in most parts it is delightful. The average temperature is lower than in many parts of the United States, and the humidity is not nearly so great. Records of temperature in the Philippines have been kept since 1855, and in that time the maximum record was 103 degrees. The mean temperature is from 70 to 80 degrees.

If the humidity were great there are times when it would be almost unbearable, but ordinarily I would rather live in the Philippines than in most sections of this country. It is fortunate that in the month of greatest humidity, September, the temperature falls lower than at any other time of the year, which makes it possible to endure the conditions.

"I have frequently been asked if there is much drinking among the Filipinos. There is comparatively very little. The Filipinos have discovered, even if some of our own countrymen have not, that alcoholics drink and the tropics do not mix. It is seldom you see a Filipino intoxicated. There are native brewed drinks in different islands, but the people do not overindulge."

There are few items which appear in this paper more important to Cloverport people than the statement published below. In the first place, it is from a citizen of Cloverport and can be thoroughly relied upon. In the second place, it indisputably proves that Doan's Kidney Pills do their work thoroughly and not temporarily. Read this carefully:

J. B. Strong, farmer, Cloverport, Ky., says: "I had trouble from weak kidneys, together with pains across the small of my back and through my sides. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended in the papers, I got a box. They quickly cured me, and in return, I highly recommend them."

PRESIDENT WILSON.

(New York World.)

"Fortunately," says the Herald, "we have at the head of the Government at this critical time a man in whose calmness and judgment we have as great confidence as we have in his patriotism."

"Calmness and judgment." Great words, expressing great qualities. In the terrible storm of war that has burst over Europe, Americans have new reason to admire the sense and sanity of their own chief magistrate.

Since autocracy deliberately plunged civilization into blood, we hear no more sneers at an administration that chose "watchful waiting" in preference to war. We hear no more expressions of contempt for the President's idealism and for his theories of service. These theories are no longer the academic dreams of the "schoolmaster." In the light of the world-wide catastrophe of the last ten days the most blatant jingo in the United States would not exchange Woodrow Wilson for any European statesman, and the partisan bigots who professed to be ashamed of their country have all been silenced by events.

It is very fine to prattle about "a vigorous foreign policy," but conscience and sincerity and integrity have their place in government despite the Metternich legend that still controls European chancelleries. There was plenty of vigorous foreign policy in Berlin, in Vienna and St. Petersburg; but there was none of the good faith and common honesty that have shone through the diplomacy of Washington. In consequence, all of Europe is directly or indirectly at war, and it is only in the United States that the flame of civilization burns steadily and brightly.

Who doubts that if a man of Woodrow Wilson's restraint and temperament had been at the head of the German government this crime of the centuries would have been averted? Who doubts, either, that if the United States now had a President of the Kaiser's temperament this country would inevitably be drawn into the vortex of war?

More than maps will be changed by this conflict, and we ourselves will be affected by it in respects that are neither financial nor commercial. New standards of statesmanship will be established in this country as the American people contemplate the terrible results of personal government and imperialistic ambitions abroad.

To the historian of fifty years hence the fact that Woodrow Wilson was President in this crisis may seem no less providential than the fact that Abraham Lincoln was President when the very life of the Union was hanging in the balance.

President Wilson stopped the advance on sugar and meats. He got busy, put his detectives to work to find out the cause. Soon as the detectives got into the field prices stopped soaring. Sugar, for instance, was advancing from a half to one cent a pound a day, and so were meats. The minute the trusts found that President Wilson was on to their job, the advance stopped, and the market has been stationary ever since.

We hope the labor celebrators will enjoy next Monday. We are all proud of the progress made by our many enterprises. And today our pride is greater than ever before of the industries of America. Now that we cannot get goods from abroad, we will see that home-made products are just as good as those from foreign shores.

Next Monday the Cloverport Graded and High Schools open the 1914-15 term. The parents are urged to send the children Monday morning and all patrons of the school are invited to come to the opening exercises. Prof. McCoy is anxious to have a large enrollment the first day.

PUBLIC CONSCIENCE AND TAXES

From The Daily Times Journal, Bowling Green

It will soon be time to make out a list of all your taxable property, and pay your taxes, if you have not already done so for 1914. Giving in a true list of everything in your possession subject to taxation will be the best way to reduce taxes and help our county and towns. People make a great mistake in accumulating property that they cannot cheerfully pay taxes on and complain that "taxes eat them up."

Taxation should be just, and it would not be near so high if everybody would give in their cash, diamonds and invisible property to the assessor and pay the tax on it. Conscientious tax payers are the best citizens in the world; they are men to be trusted and men who will be rewarded. Give in a true list of all your property and be assured that next year you will have the money to pay your taxes, and you will. It is better to be right than rich. Begin your financial year by keeping books. See how much you make, what you spend and how little you save. Don't let little debts get the best of you or big debts kill you; hard work and perseverance will master both. It is a great thing to see a man struggling to pay his honest debts, especially when his hair is beginning to be sprinkled with gray and age creeping upon him. It is never too late to try—if you fail, there is always another chance as long as you have the mind and heart, —Breckenridge News.

Editor Babbage strikes the keynote of a reform that, if brought about in Kentucky would soon solve the State's financial problem, which for the past several years has been the topic of discussion and the football for the chronic politicians. We need an awakening of the public conscience among our people. Let the people be impressed with the truth that it is dishonest to defraud the State as it is to cheat one's neighbor or a member of one's own family. If the hidden wealth of the people of Kentucky was listed for taxes the coming year, there would be enough tax receipts to pay off the public debt in twelve months and a snug surplus left in the State treasury. It would then be an easy matter to lower the rate, and to ease the burden of taxation to rest lightly on the masses of our citizens. Of course a new system of making an assessment would do much to bring about this result, yet after all, it is difficult to force people to be honest in giving in their lists. Would it not be possible to inaugurate a campaign against dishonesty in dealing with the State, as well as dishonesty in other things? If the newspapers of the State will begin to impress upon their readers that when they withhold property that should be listed for taxation, they are, to that extent robbing many poor widows and orphans who are thus forced to pay more than their proportionate part of the State taxes, there will soon be an awakening of the public conscience that will tell in increased taxable property listed. Bring to the minds and hearts of the people the truth that they are nothing short of criminals when they thus defraud the State and cheat their poorer neighbors.

Mrs. Ed Compton, of Big Spring, who has been visiting her brother, Lewis Allgood, has returned home.

A large crowd gathered at old Lost Run church Sunday, it being the day for the annual meeting at that place. Rev. Russell Walker, of Fordsville, preached two splendid sermons. This church, now over a hundred years old, is a sacred place to many people, and they love to gather there for worship once a year. They are planning for a protracted meeting about the last of September.

Mrs. Minnie Beauchamp gave an ice cream supper at her school-house at Rock Cut last Saturday night for the benefit of the school.

Marvin Carman and Miss Estelle Dowell were married last Thursday.

Quite a number from this community attended the Baptist Association at Bewleyville last week. The annual meeting of the W. M. U. was well attended with delegates from most every society in the association. Most of the societies met their full apportionments for the year—$1,384.12 being paid in to Miss Lena Payne. Some made the mistake of paying to the Central Committee, thereby keeping this association from getting credit for it. Please remember all money must be paid to Miss Payne at Stephensport.

Mrs. W. W. Stout, who has been in the Training School at Louisville, and who with her husband, Rev. W. W. Stout, will sail for China in September, gave a good talk on the Training School.

The same officers were elected for the coming year.

The ladies of the W. M. U. wish to thank the Methodists for their kindness in tendering them the use of their church for the meeting.

They TURN RUSSIANS BACK

Germans Report a "Prodigious Victory" at Gilgenburg.

Washington, Aug. 31.—The German embassy has received a message from Berlin, via the Sayville wireless station on Long Island, stating that the government authorities in East Prussia have recalled the fugitive citizens of that section of the empire following the prodigious German victory over the Russian invading army at Gilgenburg.

The latest news from Allenstein (in East Prussia, sixty-five miles south of Koenigsberg) indicates that the Germans are energetically pressing the Russians. The Russian endurance is described as terrific. Corpses lie in heaps on the battlefield. Many prisoners, including one Russian general, were captured.

The battle of Gilgenburg, according to dispatches made public at the German embassy, was fought on Friday and resulted in the turning back of a Russian force of five army corps.

German Reserves Thought to Be Moving On Antwerp.

SIEGE OF CITY IS EXPECTED

A Secondary Supporting Army is reported to be on the way to occupy Conquered Territory and invest Antwerp, the defenses of which are admittedly weak and not likely to resist a determined siege.

London, Aug. 31.—Field Marshal Lord Roberts, addressing a meeting for the purpose of securing recruits for the army, declared that the country was in great danger. There was no use in mincing words, he said; defeat would mean ruin, shame and slavery.

Antwerp, Aug. 31.—There is a report that the Germans have reserves to spare, and it would be consistent with their plan to follow their swift moving columns at the front with a second supporting army to occupy the conquered territory, which has already been almost evacuated by the advanced troops, and invest Antwerp, if the troops can be spared from Prussia, and efforts will be made to do this.

In regard to Antwerp's resistance, it may be said that the outer line of forts are a mile and a half apart. There is a gap of three miles through which troops could be poured, and the Belgian field army would have to hold this gap. Behind the first line a second line of forts would repeat the resistance. It would cost an immense number of lives, but of this the Germans are careless. A big army with siege guns could manage it and not take an unduly long time to do it.

The bombardment of Antwerp would present no difficulties to the Germans if the inner forts were once besieged. The loss of life in the town would be enormous. It is of the utmost importance to protect Antwerp, not by strengthening the defense, but by the operations of a distracting force acting from the coast to the left of an investing army.

A GENERAL SURVEY OF THE WAR

Washburn reports that the first information received that Turkey may become involved in the European war was contained in a statement given out by the German embassy. This information is to the effect that Turkey may at any moment join the kaiser and that a declaration of war against Great Britain is believed by the Germans likely to inflame the Moslems against the British in Egypt and India.

The information from the Balkans is to the effect that German naval and army officers are being hurried to Constantinople in the expectation of war and that the situation within the Balkan area is becoming most serious.

The Russians still are advancing their lines. The report of their occupation of Tilsit is confirmed and they are said to be within striking distance of Posen. The Grand Duke Nicholas is continuing his operations to an attack on the main armies and is progressing rapidly ahead.

The Russian army has driven in the outlying Austrian defenses and is now attacking Lemberg, the capital of Austrian Galicia. The three army corps which were opposing the Russian advance have been split and forced back on the fortifications of Lemberg with heavy loss.

The destruction of Louvain.

Louvain has been completely destroyed by the Germans as a military measure, the city having been burned in reprisal for hostile acts charged against the people of that city. Reports declare that the town was set afire by the Germans by using explosives and bombs and that now nothing remains of it but a heap of ashes and twisted ruins. The Belgian Congo concessions have been attacked along the frontier by the Germans. British and Belgians are cooperating in the defense. British marines now are in the destruction of Louvain.

The latest news from Allenstein (in East Prussia, sixty-five miles south of Koenigsberg) indicates that the Germans are energetically pressing the Russians. The Russian endurance is described as terrific. Corpses lie in heaps on the battlefield. Many prisoners, including one Russian general, were captured.

The battle of Gilgenburg, according to dispatches made public at the German embassy, was fought on Friday and resulted in the turning back of a Russian force of five army corps.

Washington, Aug. 31.—The German embassy has received a message from Berlin, via the Sayville wireless station on Long Island, stating that the government authorities in East Prussia have recalled the fugitive citizens of that section of the empire following the prodigious German victory over the Russian invading army at Gilgenburg.

FLIGHT OF A COMET

Its Wild Race Through Space and the Speed It Attains.

CRASHING INTO THE EARTH.

What the Result Would Be if One of These Light but Massive Wanderers of the Sky Were to Swing Into a Head-on Collision With Our Planet.

A large part of the fear that great comets have always inspired is due to an instinctive dread of their tremendous power for evil. They look like bodes of destruction, and those who know nothing about astronomy accept them at their apparent face value.

And, in truth, if they could come within hitting distance of the earth they would do an enormous amount of damage, and some of them might be capable of putting the earth temporarily out of commission as an inhabited globe.

The terror that was aroused in many quarters by Halley's comet in 1910 is sure to recur on the appearance of any new comet, so that it is worth while to consider what an evilly disposed comet could do to the earth if it got a chance.

There are two ways in which a comet could cause damage to the earth—first, by running straight into it with 15,000 times the velocity of an express train and, second, by infecting the atmosphere with the poisonous or stifling gases contained in its tail.

Let us consider the first case of a comet shock.

Two things have to be taken into account—namely, the velocity and the weight of the colliding comet, considered as a gigantic projectile shot against the earth as a target.

Comets are very deceptive in regard to weight or mass. They are enormously large, but relatively very light. The comet that appeared in 1861 first grazed the sun and then swept the earth with its tail.

Halley's comet also occupied vastly more space than the earth, but a careful estimate has shown that it probably did not weigh more than 30,000,000 tons, which is much less than the weight of the material excavated to make the Panama canal.

It might be thought, then, that the earth is in no more danger from such a comet than a battleship is from a boy's bean shooter. But now the velocity begins to come into play. The speed of a comet at the earth's distance from the sun would be about twenty-six miles per second.

A mass of 30,000,000 tons shooting through space at a velocity of twenty-six miles per second would develop in round numbers about twenty quintillion ton pounds of energy, equivalent to the development in one second of thirty-six thousand million million horsepower.

Where the comet struck everything—rock, soil, vegetation—would be melted, vitrified and even vaporized in an instant, for all this tremendous energy would be turned into heat through the sudden and complete arrest of the swift motion of the comet. The countless millions of "absolute units of energy" developed by the stopping of the comet would furnish enough heat to liquefy more than a million million tons of solid iron!

The result would be a very big and a very deep hole in the earth. Thousands of square miles would be more or less directly affected by the terrible impact, for the shock would be greater than that of the mightiest earthquake, and perhaps buildings would tumble into ruin and mountains would shake off their fringes of rock in all parts of the globe, while the sea would hurl itself in whirling tidal waves upon every coast and drown all the low-lying islands.

The atmospheric disturbances would also be enormous. The sudden development of great heat at the point of collision would unbalance the air currents and destructive and capricious winds would blow to and fro over the earth.

We have only a little space left to consider the effects of a collision between the earth and the tail of a comet. This is something that has actually occurred two or three times within a century. As already said, the comet of 1861 enveloped the earth with the spreading end of its tail for a few hours, and in 1910 Halley's comet brushed its tail over the earth, but apparently the electric repulsion developed prevented the gases of the tail from entering the atmosphere. It is possible that in every case this would occur, so that electricity may be our effective guardian against deleterious substances that might otherwise be introduced into the atmosphere from the switching tails of close passing comets.—Garret P. Serviss in Spokane Spokesman-Review.

Destroing Equilibrium.

Love, hope, fear, faith—these make humanity, these are its sign and note and character.—Browning.

RAILROAD RULES, 1852

INTERESTING REMINDER OF EARLY DAYS OF TRAVEL.

Instructions for Engineers and Conductors Appear Laughable in These Days When the Science of Railroading Has Been Perfected.

A most interesting exhibit of the early days of railroading in this country has been found.

It is a schedule for passenger train and rules for the conduct of engineers and conductors on the Western & Atlantic, which was at the time and still is owned by the state of Georgia. The time table is dated March 1, 1852, and was issued by William Wadley, superintendent, father of George D. Wadley, the latter for many years manager of the Central Railroad of Georgia.

In the rules for engineers and conductors are many which seem quaint in this age of colossal railroading. Of course the road had only one track, and rule 11 for passenger conductors shows that there must have been some dispute when trains met as to which train had the right to keep on its way uninterrupted. This rule says:

"As a general rule when trains meet between stations the train nearest the turnout will run back. Any dispute as to which train is to retire is to be determined at once by the conductors, without interference on the part of the engineers. This rule is required to be varied in favor of the heaviest loaded engine, or worst grades if they meet near the center."

Rule 7 gives the conductor directions for reporting on the number of passengers who are paying and the number of ministers of the gospel who were to be charged half price when on business connected with their calling. The same rule indicated that the governor of the state and the general superintendent of the road were the only individuals who had a right to give passes.

The conductor was ordered to inspect the running gear of his train at every station and, in rule 13, was admonished never to leave Atlanta or Chattanooga without the mail or without first sending to the postoffice for it. Rule 15 says that a train stopping at any station at night must invariably be run on the turnout so as to leave the main track clear, and that strict watch had to be kept in all cases where a train stopped at night.

In the regulations for passenger engineers there are a number which seem almost humorous in this period of railroad management. For instance the engineer was instructed that if his train killed any stock and threw the cow or cows in such a position as to endanger the safety of the next train he was to stop his train and see that the track was cleared.

Passenger trains were not to exceed the speed of their schedule except when behind time, in which case the speed might be increased three miles an hour generally. In passing turnouts (the turnout evidently was the switching track) the speed had to be diminished to six miles an hour.—Railway Age-Gazette.

Acute Indigestion.

"I was annoyed for over a year by attacks of acute indigestion, followed by constipation," writes Mrs. M. J. Gallagher, Geneva, N. Y. "I tried everything that was recommended to me for this complaint, but nothing did me much good until about four months ago I saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised and procured a bottle of them from our druggist. I soon realized that I had gotten the right thing for they helped me at once. Since taking two bottles of them I can eat healthily without any bad effects."—Sold by all dealers.

Mountain Railroad.

One of the most remarkable railroads in the world is to be built in France, to run up the Aliguel du Midi, which rises abruptly to a height of 12,608 feet. The object of the undertaking will be to show the unmatched glories of Mont Blanc and its chain of peaks and glaciers. Instead of running on solid ground, however, like most of the Swiss mountain railroads, it is to go through the air on pylons and cables, swinging from peak to peak, far above the eternal snows and glaciers. The starting station of the line is situated down in the Valley of Chamonix.

Non-Magnetic Rails.

According to our contemporary, the Engineer, in order to accommodate the increasing use of track and signaling circuits on railroads, with the necessity for bonding joints, points and crossings, and separating rail sections to form the desired electric circuits, it is proposed by a German engineer to use non-magnetic rails. The non-magnetic track rails are made of nickel steel containing about 18 to 20 per cent. of nickel, and they are inserted at desired points in the ordinary magnetic track for controlling signals, brakes, etc., from the vehicles. For light railroads, the whole of the track may be formed from these rails, which do not affect the action of the weak electric current used in controlling the railroad.—Scientific American.

BELIEFS' WAYS AND NEEDS AS EXPLAINED BY EXPERTS.

Interesting and Practical Excerpts From Health Department Bulletin.

There is a reason for everything the body does, the New York health department will tell you. If he lifts his large toe, or looks cross-eyed at a fly on the outside of the screen, or crooks his left index finger, or makes a sound like a drowning cat, this has real significance. And if he wags his right ear, smacks his lips and plats his skin like the folds of an accordian, that means the 12 o'clock whistle should blow for lunch.

Suppose you asked Dr. Sarah J. Tinker, head of the division of child hygiene, what you would do if you found your hands three days in a row fidgety and whose mother had just died?

She would tell you for feeding a baby not to use milk one tablespoonful and water three tablespoonsfuls, feed the baby two tablespoonsfuls at first and increase until full amount, two ounces, is given at the end of two weeks. The baby should be fed every two hours. If the child is three to six months, three ounces of milk and three ounces of barley water. Feed every three hours. Give only six feedings in twenty-four hours. Two tablespoonsfuls make an ounce. From six to nine months, milk six ounces, barley water three ounces. Feed every four hours, last at 10 o'clock.

Ten bottle babies to one of the naturally fed infants die every year. Babies should be nursed by mothers, particularly during hot weather. Here are some of the other cautions: Nurse the baby regularly, never longer than every two hours during the day and four hours during the night. Do not nurse every time it cries. Give it only good milk, prepared exactly as the doctor directs. Keep the milk always cold and covered.

The baby feels the heat more than the body. In hot weather remove most of its clothing. A loose cotton shirt and napkin are enough on hot days. Wash the baby whenever other changes are made. In hot weather give it a cool sponge bath several times a day. Give it plenty of clean, cool, boiled water to drink. If the baby vomits stop all feeding and give cool, boiled water. Send for your doctor at once.

Billiards Extraordinary.

Harris Merton Lyon, the author, has a number of gross and earthy friends. He says that the other day two of them began to play billiards. As drouth overtook them they took the necessary steps. Toward evening one of them closed one eye and looked at the clock. Then he left to telephone his wife. The other remained stolidly to pursue the balls about the table. After 15 minutes the first returned.

"How—hic—many you made?" he asked.

"Ain' made none," said the other, drowsily.

"What?" demanded the first friend.

"You been shootin' all this time and ain' made none?"

"Yeah," said the other, with some irritation. "I ain' made none. An' lemme tell you, I been shootin' for you, too, and you ain' made none either!"

Plan Novis Punishment.

Sydney, N. S. W.—Criminologists in Australia are greatly interested in the experiment of Judge Eagleson of the Melbourne county court in prescribing a novel form of punishment for men whose offenses are due to drink. A young man who pleaded guilty to embezzlement was allowed his freedom on condition that he should make good within two months the amount stolen and should abstain from drinking intoxicants and gambling "during the rest of his natural life." The slight infraction would render him liable to a ten months' sentence. A laborer, found guilty of assault, was released under similar conditions.

Wartime Wit.

"Throughout the siege of Paris," says Ernest A. Vizetelly in his book, "My Days of Adventure," "the so-called not pour rire was never lost sight of." Thus:

"When horseflesh became more or less our daily provender many Parisian bourgeois found their health failing. What is the matter, my dearest? Mme. du Bois du Pont inquired of her husband when he had collapsed one evening after dinner. 'Oh, it is nothing, mon amie,' he replied, 'but j used to think myself a better horseman!'"

Then there was the soldier whose age was conveniently elastic:

"When Trochu issued a decree incorporating all national guards under forty-five years of age in the marching battalions for duty outside the city one of these guards on being asked how old he was replied, 'Sir und forte.' 'How is that?' he was asked. 'A few weeks ago you told everybody that you were only thirty-six.' 'Quite true,' rejoined the other, 'but what with rampart duty, demonstrating at the Hotel de Ville, short rations and the cold weather, I feel quite ten years older than I formerly did.'"

THE TROPICAL SOUTH GARDENS OF THE GREAT PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION AT SAN FRANCISCO

This panorama reveals some of the brilliant architectural phases of the great Exposition which will open on Feb. 20, 1915. On the left is the colossal glass dome of the beautiful Palace of Horticulture, rising almost 200 feet and more than 150 feet in diameter. On the right is the great Palace of Liberal Arts, while still further to the right may be seen the steel framing of the great Tower of Jewels, which will be 435 feet in height. In the foreground ornamental palms and shrubs from distant corners of the globe have found a new home in California.

Whole World Is Planning to Visit the Greatest of Universal Expositions at Which Uncle Sam Will Celebrate the Opening of the Panama Canal.

THROUGHOUT the world millions of people are planning to visit the Panama-Pacific Exposition, which opens next year in San Francisco. Railway and steamship agents report extraordinary advance bookings. Steamships and railroads are planning low round trip rates, with privileges of routing never before enjoyed.

And while millions are preparing to visit the vast Exposition, which opens on Feb. 20, 1915, preparations for the Exposition itself are far advanced, and it has attained a stage of development unequalled by any universal celebration in the history of the world. The vast exhibit palaces are completed, and the installation of the world's marvels has begun. This unparalleled progress is not confined to the huge exhibit section, for the state and foreign sites and the great concession area, "The Zone," are being crowned by completed structures that leave no doubt as to the preparation made for this magnificent Exposition.

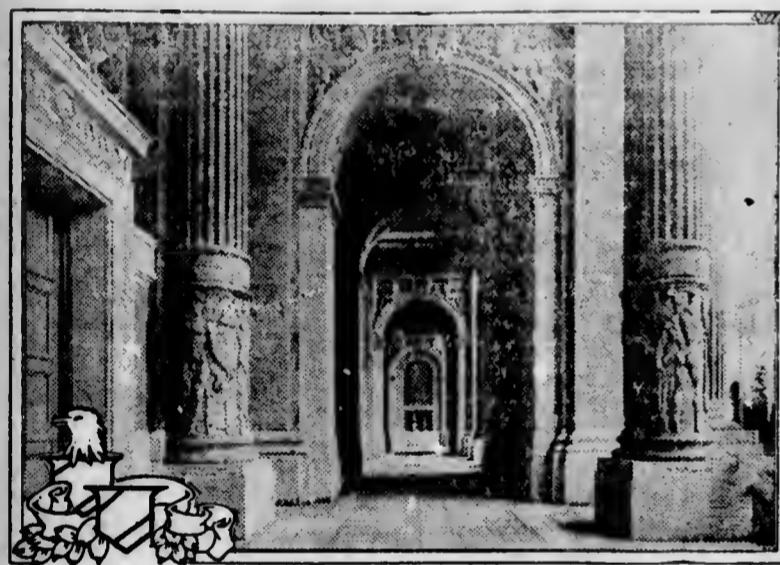

The coming Exposition offers greater spectacles, greater beauty, wider education and more captivating entertainment than any predecessor, and instead of following precedents it has shattered them at every turn and has adopted improvements on old plans that will make it a typical and really modern Exposition.

Thirty-six foreign nations are participating, and the amounts appropriated run from the hundreds of thousands to the $1,500,000 of China and the $1,300,000 of Argentina. The states have not lagged in accepting the invitation to have their part in the glory of celebrating the completion of the Panama canal, and thirty-nine will be represented if the list remains as it stands. New York tops this list with $1,000,000.

Contests will be offered such as have been seen in no other great assembly of humanity, and a few of the many that are drawing the visitors are: The around the world aeroplane race for $300,000 in prizes, the New York to San Francisco motorboat race for $10,000, two harness horse racing meets for $227,000 in purses, yachting events for cups offered by King George V. of England and President Woodrow Wilson, the first world's polo tournament, a world's series baseball game and championships in every line of athletic sports.

No phase of the Exposition is being neglected, and the railroads are doing their part by giving unprecedented rates with a limit of ninety days, and every opportunity to see the wonders of the United States by special routing and side trips.

THE photographer was stationed at the most northern of the three arched portals constituting the main western entrance to the palace and turned his camera to the north. The huge columns adorning this entrance are of imitation Sienna and are in warm contrast with the creamish gray of the "Travertine" plaster of which the walls are composed. The friezes at the base of the columns and the spandrels above the archways of the vestibule are the work of the sculptor Haig Patigian. In architectural style the Palace of Machinery is early Roman. The architect is Clarence R. Ward of San Francisco.

WAS FIRST LINER DE LUXE.

Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse Suits Cost $1,000—Later Prices Reached $5,000.

The Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, which at the outbreak of war was converted into an armed cruiser and which was sunk off the west coast of Africa by the British cruiser High Flyer, was built in 1897 at a cost of between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000. She was 626 feet long, 66 feet beam and 14,350 gross tonnage. She had an average speed of twenty-three knots and, according to the Naval Annual, she was fitted to carry an armament of eight 5.9 guns, four 4.7 guns and fourteen machine guns.

The liner was the first vessel to have suits de luxe, consisting of parlor, bedroom and bath, costing $1,000 for the passage. The innovation proved a great success, and the succeeding liners ran the price up to $2,000 and continued after that until the limit was reached with the $5,000 imperial suits on the Vaterland and the Imperator.

BETTER SITUATION IN REPUBLIC OF MEXICO

Peace Once More Settles Over the Country.

Washington, Aug. 31.—Security throughout Mexico is the optimistic estimate of the situation in the republic expressed in a statement made public by the Constitutional agency in Washington. Even Emiliano Zapata, the inincible and irreconcilable leader of the rebel forces of southwestern Mexico, has come into the fold.

The satisfactory settlement of the feud in Sonora between the followers of Governor Matozona and Colonel Calles removes the possibility of this alteration growing into a revolt against the central government. Peace is now virtually established throughout the entire country.

A message from Mexico City did not give any details of the agreement reached between Zapata and Carranza except that the former had pledged himself to recognize the new government. It is known that Zapata has been fighting for years to obtain agrarian reforms, and it is thought that when he was convinced that Carranza was honestly determined to bring the same reforms to the people that he agreed readily to co-operate with him. Zapata was in sympathy with Madero on this score, but reactionary influences succeeded in separating the two men.

He said, "Many daughters have done virtuously, but thou exceedest them all." I can not remember when she came into our family, and I am sure there was no one in all the connection who was more highly respected, or loved more truly by all the relatives, than she was. She had never been favored with good health. She was almost blind for years, and had severe illness almost every year of her life. She was a true mother to her husband's children, and as devoted a wife as was ever known.

In all my wanderings of these many years, there were always two homes at Cloverport open to me at any time, Wills Noell's and John Keith's. Now the angel of death has visited them both.

When we name over the families that you and I knew in Cloverport, when we were young, we see how many changes time can bring. The last Murray has now moved away, the name LaFleist has not been there for a good
